

"Piggy" Hypnotized.—The baby porker, thrust into a cage of a boa-constrictor, came under the baleful hypnotic glare of the reptile and the chances for its escape from becoming a meal were very slim.

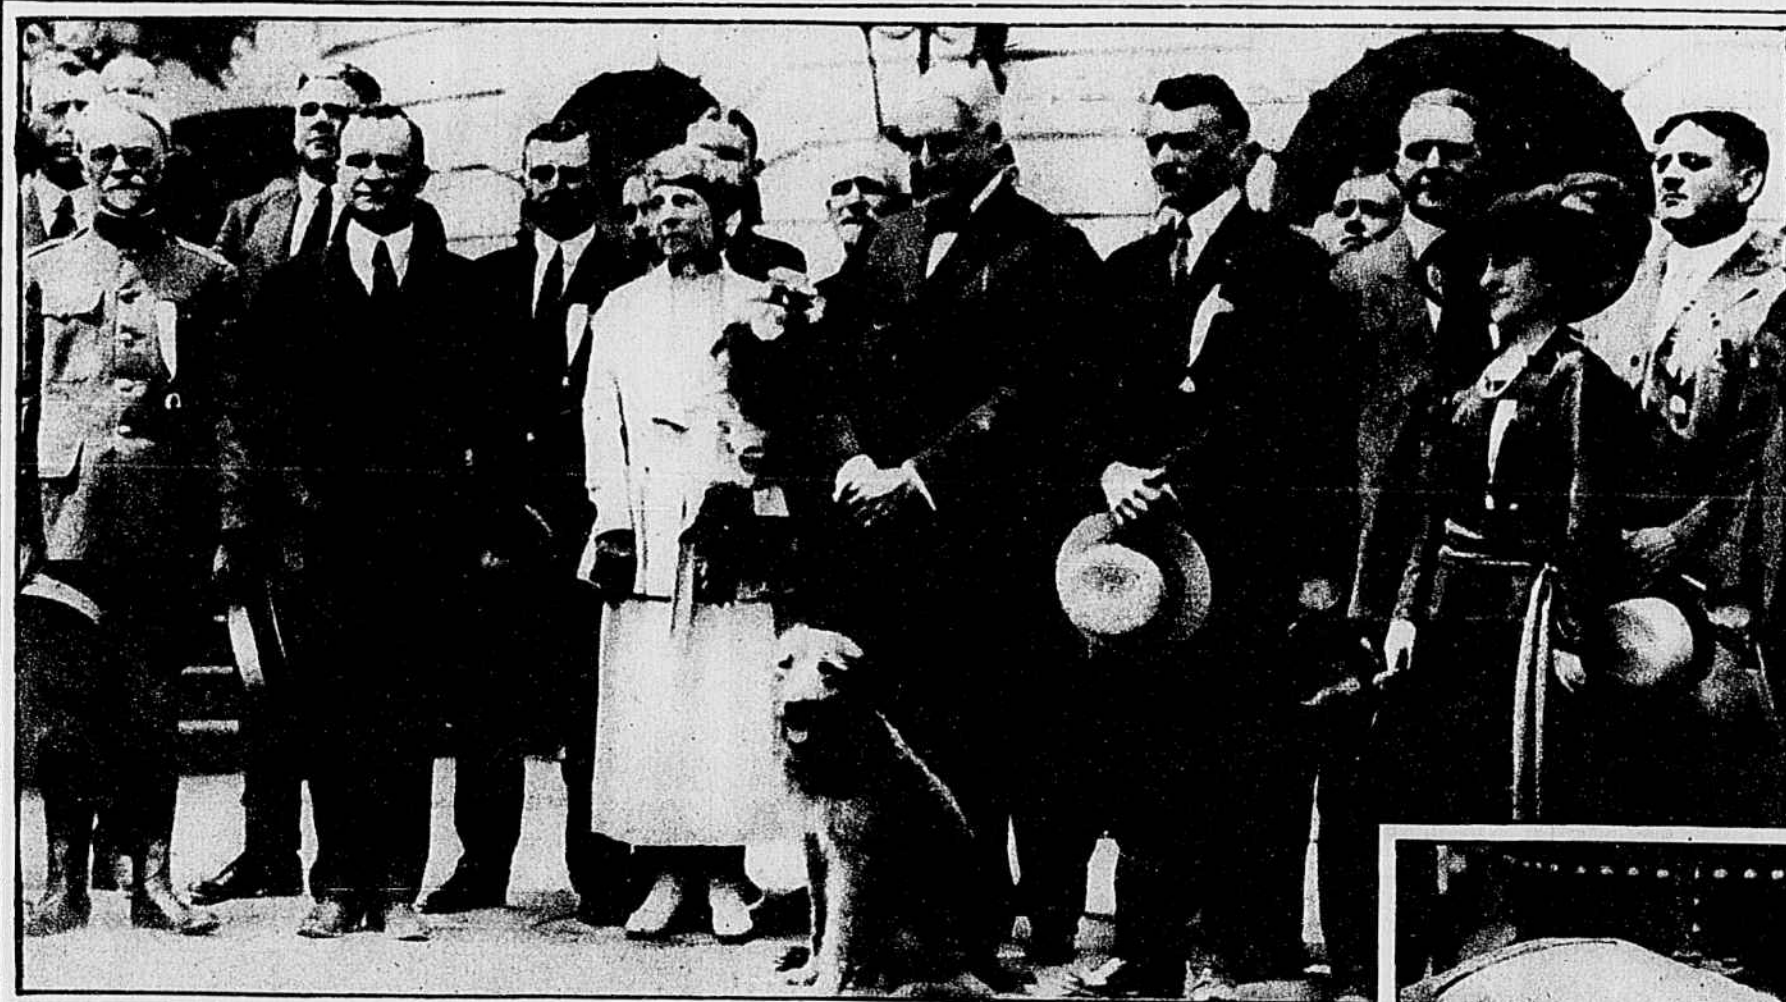

A Women's Eight.—The well-set-up eight of the London School of Medicine, who raced a dead heat with the Newnham College Ladies' Eight, in an exciting race recently held at Putney-on-the-Thames.

War Still On.—A detachment of Greek Cavalry crossing the River Gallus near Yoin-Sohio, in Anatolia, in which the Turkish Nationalists, after initial reverses, turned on the Greeks, driving them back with heavy losses.

A Queer Animal.—A Maholi Galage, whose habitat is South Africa, which has just arrived in the London Zoo. The animal has the curious power of folding its long ears.

Knight-Templars Visit Harding.—Commandery No. 36, of Marion, Ohio, of which President Harding is a member, paid a visit to the Chief Executive and were received at the White House. Later the President was given an Honorary Templar Degree by Columbia Commandery No. 267 at Masonic Hall.

(Left) Irish Outbreak.—On the day armistice was declared between the Irish and British Troops, a fierce encounter took place in the streets of Belfast. Photograph shows one of the wounded of the affray.

(Left) Off for Exhibition.—Oiling up the DeWitt Clinton, "grandfather's engine," preparatory to its departure from New York to Chicago, where it will be one of the exhibits personifying railway progress.

Will Christen Dreadnaught.—Miss Jean Summers, who has been appointed by Governor Hart, of Washington, as sponsor of the new dreadnaught Washington. Miss Summers is the daughter of Representative and Mrs. J. W. Summers, of Walla Walla, Wash.